

Ladies and Gentlemen,

I have been a Voom customer for a year now and within that time I have been extremely impressed by Voom. The quality of service and the value that Voom provides as a competitive alternative to the two major satellite providers is priceless. Voom has provided those of us who have adopted the new digital TV format ,and HDTV, a service like no other available today. None of the other providers offer the number of HD channels Voom does, nor do they provide to you the antenna required to get your local digital stations. IF you allow Voom to be destroyed I feel that it will be a major setback of the evolution of TV into HDTV, as well as the acceptance of digital broadcast TV. Voom is a provider that the American public deserves the right to choose, instead of being limited to two almost identical services. The HDTV public needs your help now, PLEASE KEEP VOOM ALIVE.

Sincerely,

Chris Melchior KC9BZQ
